

Call for Proposals for the 7th Annual Meeting of Asian Political Methodology in Hong Kong, January 9 and 10, 2020

July 7, 2019

We are pleased to announce that the 7th Asian Political Methodology Annual Conference will be held in the University of Hong Kong. We aim to have an intensive and fruitful two-day conference focusing on innovative quantitative methods in social science and their applications, with opening speech by Professor Suzanna Linn, the incoming President of the Society for Political Methodology, paper reporting, and posters displaying. Detailed conference information can be found here: <https://www.cambridge.org/core/membership/spm/conferences/asian-political-methodology-meeting-2020>

We now invite proposals for papers and posters for the conference. The deadline for proposal submission is September 15, 2019. Please submit paper and poster proposals online here. Proposal submissions should include the title and abstract of up to 200 words, name and contact details for the presenter. For individual submissions, please indicate whether you are proposing to present a paper or a poster. As in last conference, the committee will select the best poster(s) for the Japanese Journal of Political Science Poster Award in the end of the conference.
